Tips for the American Hero Gospel Tracts

These gospel tracts are perfect for 4th of July, Independence Day, Veteran's Day, Memorial Day, and any other American patriotic event. Below are some different phrases to get these Christian tracts into peoples' hands, and don't forget that a sincere smile is 90% of the work. People will warm to your warmth and will usually be courteous enough to receive a gospel tract from you. Also remember that when you use one of the sayings below, while you are speaking you should be handing a tract toward them in a way that they can clearly see it, so as to not startle them.

Did you get one of these?

Here you go, it's a gospel tract.

Happy 4th of July!

Happy Independence Day!

Happy Memorial Day!

Happy Veteran's Day!

Thanks for your service!

If people reject a tract don't get discouraged, they're not necessarily rejecting you. It's just part of evangelism. They just might not want one at the present time. No worries just keep tracting along. If a long line of people are walking by and you are tracting them and two or three right in a row refuse one, chances are the next 3 or 4 people behind them have seen it and will refuse one also. So, just stop for a few seconds, take a few steps down the line and begin passing them out again . . ."Did you get one of these?"
